GROUPS LEAVE CHICAGO SUNDAYS JUNE 20, 27—JULY 4, 11, 18, 25—AUGUST 1, 8, 15, 22

ITINERARY

1st Day—Sunday—OUT AND AWAY

The transcontinental "Mainstreeter" is standing in Chicago's Union Station as you arrive this evening to meet your Tour Escort and fellow members. Step aboard—reserved sleepers are ready, and as the train starts westward relax and dream of the exciting two weeks ahead.

2nd Day—Monday—ACROSS THE WIDE OPEN SPACES

Minneapolis and St. Paul fall behind early in the morning—the last large cities you'll see for a while. Ahead lie the broad wheat fields of Minnesota and North Dakota. This is the day for becoming better acquainted with your new friends, enjoying hearty meals in the diner, and "lazing" in the lounge car. Outside, the golden scenery of the heart of America—inside, pleasant companionship.

3rd Day—Tuesday—THE MAGIC OF YELLOWSTONE

Your first glance from the train window takes in the stock ranges of Montana and Wyoming, and shortly before noon you step down in the frontier town of Cody, Buffalo Bill's old stomping ground. After luncheon here, a comfortable motor coach takes you off on the Cody Road, one of the most spectacular in the country—dipping into mountain-lined Shoshone Canyon; winding along Shoshone Reservoir and River, in the shadow of weird rock shapes high overhead, and rising over Sylvan Pass, summit of the Absaroka Range. You'll follow Yellowstone Lake; then cross the Fishing Bridge, where the Yellowstone River flows out of the Lake, and join the Grand Loop Highway. Reaching Artist Point, one of the most thrilling wonders in the Park stretches before you—the Grand Canyon of the Yellowstone, cut in brilliant yellow rock by the swirling deep-green ribbon below. A short distance away the Lower Falls plummet 308 feet downward, twice the depth of Niagara. Absorb this magnificent sight for awhile, then have a hearty meal and restful night at Canyon Hotel.

4th Day—Wednesday—MAMMOTH HOT SPRINGS AND THE GEYSERS

The strange phenomena which make Yellowstone one of the most fascinating spots in the world unfold today as you start out over 9,000-foot Dunraven Pass to Tower Falls. Then on to Mammoth Hot Springs, whose steaming mineral waters flow over terraces tinted in shades of orange, pink, yellow and blue by algae living in the water. After luncheon continue to Obsidian Cliff, a bluff formed of black volcanic glass, and to Roaring Mountain, where smoke billowing from the slopes suggests an inner inferno. Continuous activity and eruption mark Norris Geyser Basin, and the serenity of Opal, Emerald and Iris Pools belies their boiling temperature. You'll pass Fountain Paint Pots, bubbling clay seeming like a huge tub of paint; Virginia Cascades; Gibbon Canyon and the Upper and Lower Geyser Basins; then visit the most famous of the geysers—Old Faithful—regular as a timepiece, shooting 150 feet of water into the air every 65 minutes. Spending the night here, you'll see the spectacle under full illumination and dance or chat around the log fires at Old Faithful Inn.

5th Day—Thursday—THE TETON RANGE

A free morning is welcome, to watch Old Faithful, take pictures, send postcards to friends at home, or just relax and enjoy yourself. In the early afternoon you're off again on the Grand Loop, past Kepler Cascades, twice across the Continental Divide, and down to Yellowstone Lake to see the West Thumb Point Pots and Fishing Cone, a boiling spring rising from the lake floor. Now the route travels south to the Teton Range—massive Mt. Moran and the loftiest of all, the Grand Teton, seem tremendously high as they shoot straight up from Jackson and Jenny Lakes. You motor through Grand Teton National Park, a paradise of evergreens, flowers and peaks, and the long valley of Jackson Hole—the Happy Hunting Grounds for all photo-snappers. Late in the afternoon cross into Idaho and join the train at Victor, bound for more beautiful and entirely different scenery.

6th Day—Friday—ZION NATIONAL PARK

Three more national parks are on your schedule, and the afternoon motor coach from Lund takes you to the first, Zion—so christened by Mormon pioneers. Red, buff, pink and white predominate, enhanced by a forest of green, in this natural temple—you'll see the inaccessible Great White Throne rising a sheer 2,475 feet above the Virgin River, the grassy Temple of Sinawava, Angels Landing atop of towering cliff, and the Great Organ. Drive through Zion Canyon, closely bounded by high red walls, and arrive at Zion Lodge just before dinner. Tonight you can dance, roam about the corral, or simply enjoy the rustic surroundings.

7th Day—Saturday—MOUNT CARMEL HIGHWAY

You'll relish the opportunity to spend the morning at Zion Lodge, taking a dip in the pool or wandering about under the cliffs. The colors by morning light are very different from those you admired last night—and every bit as beautiful. After lunch you're on your way out of the park across Mt. Carmel Highway, climbing higher and higher over thrilling switchbacks, then through a mile-long tunnel cut in solid rock, with giant "windows" offering glimpses of the scenery outside. Soon you have crossed into Arizona and the Kaibab National Forest—Kaibab, the Indian word meaning "mountain-lying-down," is the perfect name for this lofty, wide plateau abounding in evergreens. In the early evening the plateau comes to an abrupt end, and you are at the edge of the yawning Grand Canyon. You'll have a preview of tomorrow's panorama before dinner at Grand Canyon Lodge, where the night is spent.

8th Day—Sunday—GRAND CANYON

The morning flies as you gaze at this masterful work of Nature—nothing else on earth is quite like it. From the Lodge the whole scene opens up before you . . . The sun pouring into the immense bowl produces a kaleidoscopic effect of gold, red and purple, and every hour the colors are different. After lunch you take a farewell glance, then drive back through the Kaibab Forest, over the Prismatic Plains and into southern Utah. Soon you are motoring through flaming Red Canyon, on the brink of another magnificent discovery—Bryce Canyon—a huge semi-circular pit in the plateau, miles around, with a floor consisting of eerie rock formations and towers of every shape. Twilight casts deep shadows on these figures as you enter Bryce Canyon Lodge for dinner and a pleasant evening, hearing the Park Rangers' story of the amazing spot you'll explore tomorrow.

9th Day—Monday—BRYCE CANYON, CEDAR BREAKS

Nature's performance has already begun in the great amphitheatre when you stroll out to the rim after breakfast. . . . The sun has painted the spires gold and red, and you will want to admire them from the rim, then walk down onto the stage. . . . This is rich ground for the imagination—you'll "see" birds and beasts, cathedrals and castles, Queen Victoria on her throne. You will stay in this exquisite setting until after lunch, when your motor coach proceeds through more beautiful forest and valley scenes to Cedar Breaks. Known to the Indians as "Circle-of-the-Painted-Cliffs," this surprising chasm of brightly colored eroded rock contrasts gloriously with the greenery above. After dinner at Cedar Breaks Lodge you drive down Cedar Canyon to Cedar City. Going aboard the waiting Pullman, say goodbye to this wonderful cluster of National Parks.

10th Day—Tuesday—THE MORMON COUNTRY

The Hotel Utah has breakfast waiting when you arrive from the train, and soon you're ready to visit the state capital, Salt Lake City, steeped in a century of Mormon tradition. In Temple Square you'll see the largest Mormon temple in America and enjoy an organ recital in the Tabernacle. An expert Mormon guide will explain the history and ritual of the movement as he takes you around the Square. After luncheon at the Hotel Utah the afternoon is free to stroll along the wide avenues or visit nearby Great Salt Lake, whose buoyant salt water makes complete submersion impossible. In late afternoon you'll rejoin the train, traveling eastward into Colorado.

11th Day—Wednesday—ROYAL GORGE AND COLORADO SPRINGS

Today you're in the Rockies, the greatest concentration of mountain giants in America. At Royal Gorge you stop to gaze down at the Arkansas River, 1000 feet below the jagged granite walls, and at the world's highest suspension bridge which spans the gap. The afternoon is spent at Colorado Springs, where you may walk about the resort town, inspect Indian handicraft in the shops, or admire the view of distant Pikes Peak from the Antlers Hotel.

12th Day—Thursday—PIKES PEAK, GARDEN OF THE GODS

The slogan of the Gold Rush Days re-echoes this morning as you board the motor coach for "Pikes Peak or Bust!" In these times, however, the excellent highway winds easily to the summit, for a spectacular view of adjacent peaks and quiet valleys, which once resounded to the miner's pick. In the distance the Great Plains spread eastward. Pause for a long look, then begin the scenic descent to the Garden of the Gods, religious ceremonial ground of the Indian tribes. This "Old Red Land" received its name from the strange red sandstone minarets jutting skyward. Returning from the Garden to Colorado Springs, you join the train which will carry you through Kansas and Iowa on the last leg of your western tour.

13th Day—Friday—HOME AGAIN

Amid a flurry of exchanging addresses, recalling special tour thrills, planning future trips, farewells and handshakes, you arrive in Chicago all too early—you have encompassed 4800 miles of western splendor, seen so many exciting spots in just 13 days!
